Clause Dropped, After Vote From Military Service Act.

DEBATE ON RIGHTS OF NEWSPAPERS

No Protection For Owners Urged Against Suppres- sion Provision

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

OTTAWA, July 19.—The Military Service Bill was again introduced at stage this evening. It passed through committee, was reported and will come up for third reading on Tuesday. The bill has attracted considerable lively debate on two important issues: the question of the exemption of military students from military service; and the exemption of university students. The exemption of university students was dropped from the bill on the motion of the prime minister and a division took place. The vote was 70-68. Members who voted for the dropping of the clause exempting students were Messrs. Parizeau, Gahan, Nesbitt, and O'Brien. Opponents were Messrs. Guthrie. The Nationalists voted on

The premier in moving for the deletion of the exemption said: "Divinity students" covered a larger class than had been contemplated and the "program," according to Mr. Maclellan, included practically all the theological and divinity students in the province of Quebec.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier favored exempting all divinity students, as in Great Britain and the United States.

Changes made in the bill make it possible to suppress a newspaper at once for flagrant violation of this legislation that is, opposing or criticizing the government through the medium of newspapers; members of the

Of the newspaper members of the Opposition, Messrs. Oliver and Graham, into the argument. They protested that a newspaper owner should have the same rights as other men.

Suppression of a newspaper meant destruction without trial. Mr. Melghen contended that a newspaper which deliberately violated the law should be punished by suppression and the amendment moved by Mr. Oliver was

Clergy and students

Sir Robert Borden said there is much force in what Mr. Graham had said. The finance minister, he added, had just returned from Washington and he would take the question up with him. The question was one which would not be dealt with in connection

Sir Robert Borden moved that the clause exempting clergy and divinity students be considered. On further consideration, he said, it had been decided that the word "divinity students" included the larger body of persons than was at first thought. Moreover, it involved a class a large number of whom do not desire exemption. It was suggested that these students, along with other students, should be left to take advantage of such exemptions as examinations might be granted by

What Does "Clergy" Mean?
Sir Wilfrid Laurier questioned the meaning of the word clergy. The two great denominations, Anglican and Roman Catholic had ordained priests whom they called the clergy. Did the word in the act also apply to the ministers of the Presbyterian, Methodist

Sir Robert replied that the ministers of all recognized denominations were included.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux suggested that at divinity students who have commenced their courses before the bill is formally sanctioned should be exempt.

Sir Sam Objects.

Sir Sam Hughes opposed the exemption of the clergy as a class.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that if the clause were restored to its original form a large number of young men who ought to be exempt would be affected even not yet a part of the

He disagreed with the views of Sir Iam Hughes. That had been the law in France, but it was strongly objected to. France would have done better to have followed the law of Great Britain, where the clergy are exempt from military service.

He hoped the Prime Minister would not persist in his proposal.

Sir Robert Borden replied that if the Government had proceeded under the Militia Act, and selected men by ballots, there would be no possible exemption of divinity students. Under his bill they can claim exemption from the trials.

Amnity Provisions

Dr. Paquette of L'Islet and Edmond Proulx, Prescott, both urged that the words "divinity students" should be retained in the law.

Hon. Frank Oliver said the provisions were ample enough to protect the divinity students of any church the government wished to have exempted.

Hon. George R. Graham remarked that in his church, the Methodist, the clergy did not want to be exempt. He had received letters from the heads of various conferences asking that they arduous conferences saying they were anxious to do their full part. He added that in many towns the Methodist church had two places of worship—and they would be willing to unite or the war.

Richard Blain, of Peel, interposed that there was nothing in the bill to prevent any clergyman who wished

American Clause

Mr. Lemieux said he could not understand why we could not go as far as the United States and he moved an amendment that we accept the American clause. It has been stated that there would be a rush to theological courses. He wished to protest against such an insinuation. He thought there was no man who would desecrate holy orders in order to avoid conscription.

Sir Robert Morden remarked that the amendment moved by Mr. Lemieux was different from the American act, in that there was no date fixed. Mr. Lemieux remarked that he would have no objections to fixing a date. Sir Robert replied that his information was that if they fixed a date for this summer, it would have no effect because diversity students of last year would have graduated, and the minors would not be included.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier doubted whether such students would be regarded as a derogation. He saw no reason why the American clause should not be accepted.

Ready to Do Their Duty

Hon. A. Seigney, speaking in French, said that the clergy of the province of Quebec were ready to do their duty. No man, he said, had any right to assert otherwise.

Mr. Gauthier of St. Hyacinthe asked the minister if he considered that students studying for minor orders would be exempt under the bill.

Mr. Seigney replied that he did not think so and added that he hoped they would not be. He said that he was in the eighth class himself, but he was ready to do his duty at any time and was also ready to ask the students to do the same. In closing, he declared that no young man without family responsibilities should be exempt from military service when married men may be sent to the front.

The Voting

A vote was taken and it was defeated on a division of 74 to 40.

Sir Robert Borden's amendment was then adopted on a division of 72 to 62. As the divisions were taken in committee the names of the individual members were not recorded. It was observed, however, that all the Quebec Liberals voted for the Lemieux substitute amendment and against the Borden amendment plus the Quebec Nationalist group and Messrs. Pugsley, Kyte, Carvell, MacKenzie and Chisholm. Those who voted against the Lemieux amendment and for the Borden amendment on the opposition side of the house, were Messrs. Pardee, Nesbitt, Ross, Truax, Graham, Oliver, Buchanan and Guthrie. Otherwise the divisions were on party lines.

Newspapers and the Act

Mr. Oliver moved an amendment providing for the suppression of the single issue of a single newspaper or periodical containing the objectionable matter, together with the prohibition of its further publication at any future time during the war. He moved further that any newspaper or periodical containing objectionable matter should be deemed to be a person and if guilty of offenses against the bill should be indicted by order of a judge. Mr. Oliver declared that this would give the paper an opportunity of defending itself in the court.

Hon. Arthur Meighen did not see what good could come of suppressing one issue of a newspaper after its contents had reached the public and all the harm had been done.

Very Stringent

Hon. George P. Graham considered the people always felt more secure to the St. Lawrence route.

have as a defense a statute rather than the promise of the government. He believed that between the time of the offense and a consideration of it by court the paper could be suppressed by the censor. It was very stringent to say that the good will and business of the paper should be confiscated because of the fault of some minor official of the paper.

Hon. Mr. Oliver said that a newspaper was a good deal like a member of the animal kingdom—if you stopped the circulation it died. He could not see why his business should be jeopardized any more than any one else's. Since the war commenced the newspapers had faithfully obeyed the censorship regulations, though some of these had been unwarranted. He did not see why his property should be subject to destruction by the government without proof or evidence of offense on his part or without possibility of defense. There was a grave danger that this clause might be exercised by the government against its party opponents.

Sir Robert Borden, closing, said that the newspapers, almost without exception, as well as the news dealers, had worked loyally and effectively in aid of the government's efforts to keep from becoming public matter which would be detrimental to the country during war time.

Salvation Army

Hon. George P. Graham asked if the bill would exempt officers of the Salvation Army.

Hon. Arthur Meighen said that it would be a gross injustice if the officers of the Salvation Army were treated differently from other denominations. He had no doubt that the bill covered them without any additions to it. That would be the intention.

URGES AMERICA TO SEND FLEET TO HUNT PIRATE

Conditions Are Disquieting Says The Representative Of New York Times.

New York, July 19.—Charles H. Grasty, the New York Times correspondent, makes a strong plea for every available American ship to be sent to European waters in order to combat the submarine menace. In support of this urging he cables the following:

"London, July 19.—The change at the admiralty, by which Sir Eric Geddes succeeded Sir Edward Carson, calls attention to submarine conditions, and there has been a sharp revision of opinion in the cabinet as a result of the re-examination of facts and figures. The prime minister's recent assurance had a sedative effect on the public mind, but discussion by well-informed persons, particularly in banking and commercial circles, in the past few days, has brought out conditions that are disquieting.

"Hoped" for Solution.

The confidence in the submarine situation appears to have had no foundation more substantial than hope that some scientific method was surely in the way of being found to put the submarine finally and entirely out of the way. The syllogism is that America is a wonderfully inventive country and America is now a belligerent; ergo America will invent a solution for the submarine.

That part of England which wakes up somewhat ahead of the rest has suddenly grasped a fact so simple that it ought to have been realized and acted on long ago. The average man has been thinking about food (which has been plentiful), or thinking about Germany's threat to reduce England in two months. Five have elapsed and England is none the worse off. What has escaped attention, and what is now brought to the fore by the change at the admiralty, is the inexorable fact, which anybody with knowledge of the rule of four can cipher out for himself, that at the present rate of construction and destruction there can't possibly at the end of a few months be shipping enough, unless British commitments elsewhere are considerably curtailed, to feed England and France and maintain the present armies in the field.

Building Far Too Slow.

As for conveying America's armies to Europe and maintaining them, it will simply be out of the question. The loss of ships by submarine totals sixteen hundred thousand tons per month, or from two to three times the total of new construction. There is no possibility whatever of the construction capacity overtaking the present rate of loss in time to avoid a peace being forced on the allies.

What is wanted, therefore, is largely to increase the destruction of U-boats. The British government, in the American government ought to be, eye to eye with the staggering fact that the allies have got to find a way to curb the submarine or lose the war—a way not yet found nor even approached, except experimentally. The damage by submarines has been reduced by American co-operation, but every single ton of effective shipping against submarines ought to be sent to European waters without a single hour's delay.

Around the Irish Coast.

It is crystal clear that protection is not needed from the submarine in American waters, and keeping de-

Had Terrible Pains in Kidneys and Back

Dear Mr. Editor—I want to write you about "Anuric." I was very sick, could hardly be up; was in bed most of the time. Had terrible pains in my kidneys and back, so much so that I had to scream sometimes when I was sitting down and wanted to get up. The pain was so great that I had to lie down. I had tried many of the well-known kidney medicine but it didn't help me. I heard of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets so I thought I would try them. I took only one box of the Tablets, and my back is now free from pain and I can work and take care of my family. I feel I cannot say enough for this medicine. Sincerely, Mrs. Wm. Keller.

Note: This "Anuric" is adapted especially for kidney complaints and diseases arising from disorders of the kidneys and bladder, such as backache, weak back, rheumatism, dropsy, congestion of the kidneys, inflammation of the bladder, acid urine and urinary troubles. The physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's Great Institution, at Buffalo, N.Y., have thoroughly tested this prescription and have been with one accord successful in eradicating these troubles, and in most cases absolutely curing the diseased kidneys. Patients having once used "Anuric" at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, have repeatedly sent back for more. Such a demand has been created that Dr. Pierce has decided to put "Anuric" in the drug stores of this country, in a ready-to-use form. If not obtainable send one dime by mail to Dr. Pierce for trial package or 50 cents for full treatment.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood cleanser and stimulant that starts the liver and stomach into vigorous action. It thus assists the body to make rich, red blood, which feeds the heart, nerves, brain and organs of the body. You feel clean, strong and strenuous.

EAT-LESS-BREAD CAMPAIGN SAVES FLOUR 10 PER CENT

Washington, July 19.—A decrease of 10 per cent. in the consumption of flour in England in June is the claim made by the national war savings committee as a result of the eat-less-bread campaign inaugurated to conserve food, according to a report received by Herbert Hoover today. This saving, it is stated, is in excess of all expectations.

The success of the educational campaign in England, it is stated, is shown by the fact that in March the saving was but two per cent. and in April four per cent., as against 10 per cent. for June. The committee says that it expects an even greater increase in the future and gives much of the credit to the intelligent co-operation of women in their homes.

is sheer waste of time when the situation here is critical. The English fleet over here protects all the interests over there. For the purposes of this war the Irish Sea is just as truly American as Long Island Sound. It is around the Irish coast that the fight to make the world safe for democracy is at its deadliest crisis.

No military verdict short of marching into Berlin can take the place of a death blow to the German U-boat. Every craft capable of operating against the submarine ought to be sent over here at the earliest possible moment.

Washington is stirred.

Washington, July 19.—The statements made by Mr. Grasty as to the ravages of the submarine will come as a shock to many officials here. Those connected with the government have followed the submarine warfare carefully showed keen interest today in the weekly report of sinkings, which they look for eagerly in the newspapers of every Thursday morning and seemed anxious to obtain information in advance of newspaper publications as to what was shown by the report of the British admiralty for the past week. One of the officials said last night, however, that he was surprised over the statements made by Mr. Grasty, as his impressions received by the daily reports of sinkings received by this government was that they were declining.

Official Report of Losses.

London, July 18.—The official report of sinkings for this week says: Arrivals 2,828; sailings 2,920.

"British merchant ships sunk by mines or submarine over 1,400 tons including one previously, 14; under 1,400 tons 4.

"British merchant vessels unsuccessfully attacked, including three previously, 12.

"British fishing vessels sunk 8."

The admiralty report of the previous week announced the sinking of vessels of over 1,400 tons and 3 of less than 1,400 tons. The fishing vessels lost numbered 7.

ITALIAN VESSELS SUNK

ROME, July 18.—One Italian merchant steamer and four small sailing vessels were sunk by submarines in the week ending July 15, according to the official statement today.

Arrivals at Italian ports for the week numbered 908, clearings 493.

NAVAL INCIDENT CLOGGED WHEELS OF SUPPLY PLAN

London, July 19.—The capture of German ships in the North Sea is regarded by the admiralty as far more than the mere destruction of a certain number of enemy merchant vessels. It has put out of gear an important branch of the Germany supply of arms.

Lately about 30 German ships have been employed in carrying coal from Holland to Sweden, in payment of Swedish iron imported along the Baltic. This iron trade, about a million and a half tons last year, was more important to the Germans, as it was needed for shells and guns. It is impossible for the allies to interfere directly, as ore ships keep to Swedish and Danish territorial waters, and Russia is unwilling to attack them.

If the supply of German coal by the North Sea route is interrupted, it is believed Germany must transport by rail. This very serious increased burden of rail facilities is already nearly outworn and taxed to the utmost carrying munitions and the Roumanian harvest. So the naval incident is held to be of considerable strategic importance.

BODY OF DEAD
SOLDIER TAKEN
THROUGH CITY*Impressive Tribute Of Respect
While Flag-Draped Coffin Moves By.

For a moment the wheels of business stood still and the hurrying rush of traffic on the main streets of the city was stayed last evening, when the procession escorting the body of the late Pte. S. H. Roseborough, the soldier who had died the previous day at the Strathcona military hospital, passed on its way to the union station. It was an impressive tribute of respect.

Marching in slow time, and preceded by the Reserve Militia band, playing the dead march, the spectacle was a striking one. The coffin, draped in the Union Jack and heaped with flowers, the gift of the dead man's comrades in the great war, was carried on a gun, drawn by a four-horse team, and escorted by veterans of the war. Behind it marched the detachment of returned men, some of them burned by the sun of their campaigns, others having the hospital scars still upon their features; some limping from the effects of wounds; others who had recovered to some extent but all bearing the evident marks of what they had undergone "over there." With eyes straight to the front, shoulders squared in response to the instinctive remembrance of drill, stern and impassive, the little company followed the body of the man who had given his life for his country. The detachment was in command of Capt. J. Z. Pinder, commander of the Home Guard.

It, in turn, was followed by an automobile which conveyed the widow and two children of Pte. Roseborough and by a car carrying the military band. Y. M. C. A. Then came other motor cars, carrying soldiers whose disabilities prevented them from marching in the parade.

The body was taken east to Pte. Roseborough's former home in Vermilion. Mr. Gerrie accompanied the bereaved family and will assist Rev. Mr. Turner, who will conduct the funeral services in Vermilion today.

It was unfortunate that although the vast majority of people on the streets eyed the military band with respect to the dead, there were a few persons, so ignorant of what constitutes decency and respect, that they through the procession, and though the few seconds of time gained there by in any manner compensated for the disrespect and indifference to the rights and feelings of others thereby manifested.

There will also be a social hour.

Guests are expected to produce programs at the door, as admission cards. The students gave a Red Cross tea Thursday afternoon from 3:30 to 4:00 on the lawn in front of Assiniboia hall.

The board sanctioned both requests. Margaret Knox wrote resigning her position as teacher on the staff.

BATHING POOL IS POLOUTED
BY SEWAGE*Eighteen Inch Pipe Discharging
Into Creek—Going On For Some Time.

Trouble arose at the Mill Creek swimming pool on Wednesday. There was every evidence of pollution of the water from some source, and owing to this and the small which arose, the children were obliged to discontinue its use.

Sanitary Inspector Graham visited the spot and made an inspection of the creek from the bridge on Whyte avenue to Gainer's packing plant, and reports that he found the water heavily charged with blood. About opposite to the slaughter-house he found an 18-inch tile pipe in the bank discharging into the creek.

From the appearance of the grass and earth it seemed to him that this method of discharging of the sewage had been going on for some time. Inspector Graham says that he interviewed Mr. Gainer, Jr., and informed him of the condition of the creek. Mr. Gainer said that he had received complaints of the water and sewer departments that the sewer was broken.

GLANDS, HE SAYS*Health Officer Claims There Is A Disposition To Avoid Quarantine.

The more serious infections have continued to be very slightly in evidence, but the minor infections: chickenpox, measles, mumps and whooping cough, have been reported. The health officer adds that bacteriological examination of the water in the pool would reveal whether any danger to the city of cury. The difference between 85 and 75 degrees above zero may appear insignificant upon the thermometer scale, but it means a lot to the bathers. It means the difference between a cold that stands stiffly up in all its laundered pulchritude and one that would fall flat on its back. It means the difference between a prolonged vacation and mere existence. A crisp breeze from the north-east mitigated the torridity which has prevailed for the past week. There was a sprinkle of rain in the early morning hours (so it is officially stated, most folks being abed and asleep at that hour) and again in the evening. The clouds had a look that threatened something more than a sprinkle, but nothing came of it. The joke was not on the weather man, after all.

A Single Application Banishes Every Hair

(The Modern Beauty)

Here is how any woman can easily and quickly remove objectionable, hairy growths without possible injury to the skin: Make a paste with some powdered salicylic acid and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a painless, inexpensive method and, excepting where the growth is unusually thick, a single application is enough. You should, however, be careful to get genuine salicylic acid.

THE DAILY POEM

HIS ROOM.

His room is as it used to be
Before he went away.
The walls still keep the pennants he Brought home but yesterday.
The picture to his baseball team
Still holds its favored spot.
And oh, it seems a dreadful dream,
This age of shell and shot!

His golf sticks in the corner stand,
That once the pressure of his hand
In times of laughter knew.
Is in the place it long has kept
For us to look upon.
The room is as it was, except
The boy, himself, has gone.

The pictures of his girls are here,
Still smiling as of yore.
And everything that he held dear
Is treasured as before.
Into his room his mother goes
As usual, day by day,
And cares for it, although she knows
Our boy is far away.

We keep it as he left it when
He bade us all goodbye.
Though I confess that, now and then,
We view it with a sigh.
For never night shall thrill with joy
Until once more our soldier boy
Shall occupy his room.

How do some people make such delicious lemon pie?

To make a delicious lemon pie, grate the rind and strain the juice of two lemons. Core, pare and chop fine one large tart apple. Pound one soft crust very fine. Mix the crust, lemons, juice of butter and mix the cracker crumbs. Mix the lemon rind and juice with chopped apple and stir with them two level cups of sugar. Beat two egg whites to stiffness, then beat both together. Beat these with the lemon, apple and sugar. Mix the buttered crumbs with all. Cover the plates, put a broad brush around their edges and fill as tart with the mixture. Bake for twenty minutes or until the crust is done. Orange pie is made in exactly the same way, but with less sugar.

Beat the eggs, add cream, butter, sugar, cayenne pepper, mustard and salt. Cook over boiling water until thick. Cook vinegar and add it to the cream mixture. Cook another minute. Cream or crumble cheese and add chopped peppers and enough of the dressing to make the mixture spread easily.

Is there a recipe for cooked salad dressing which will keep?

The following is rather easily made, but very good keeping qualities and is satisfactory in flavor.

Two tablespoonfuls butter, three tablespoonfuls flour, one teaspoonful mustard, one teaspoonful salt, two teaspoonfuls sugar, one-half cup weak vinegar, two whole eggs or three egg yolks. Melt butter, add flour, then vinegar and other dry ingredients. Stir and boil three minutes. Remove

Mutton Broth

Cut into small pieces about three pounds of scrap end of mutton, put them in a saucepan with two quarts of water; boil up well and skim. Add two onions, two carrots, two turnips cut in pieces, also a bunch of savory herbs, half a teaspoonful of salt and simmer for three and a half hours. Strain off all the fat; put a teaspoonful of very finely chopped parsley and a few nice pieces of the mutton into a tureen, pour in the broth and serve. It will be found to be an improvement to add half a teaspoonful of pearl barley boiled separately in three-quarters of a pint of liquid.

Banana Fritters

One-half cup of flour, one-quarter cup of cold water, one egg beaten, a pinch of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of melted butter.

Beat the yolk of the egg; add the water, and stir into the flour; add the salt, baking powder and melted butter, then the whole of egg whipped to stiff froth. Put sliced bananas into this batter and fry. About three or four slices should be incorporated into each fritter. When done, dredge with powdered sugar and serve hot.

Feather Cake

Perhaps some one would like this very easy and nice plain cake. It is a standby for both plain and fancy cakes. One cupful sugar, one egg, one tablespoonful softened butter, cream together. Add two scant cupfuls flour, one teaspoonful cream of tartar, one-half teaspoonful soda, one cupful milk.

—The following colloquy of "Mr. Slice O' Bread" was issued broadcast in England by the National War Savings Committee, Canada, would do well to listen to the warning note sounded:

"I am a Slice of Bread."

"I measure three inches by two and a half, and my thickness is half an inch."

"My weight is exactly an ounce."

"I am wasted once a day by 48,000,000 people in Britain."

"I am the bit left over, the slice eaten absent-mindedly when really I wasn't needed; I am the waste crust."

"If you collected me and my companions for a whole week you would find that we amounted to 3,380 tons of good bread—WASTED."

"Two shiploads of Good Bread! Almost as much—striking an average—as twenty German submarines could sink—even if they had good luck."

"When you throw me away or waste me, you are adding twenty submarines to the German Navy."

SOUTH SIDE DIARY

The Women's Missionary Society of Metropolitan Methodist church met last night on the lawn of Mrs. E. L. Crumb, 80th avenue, South Side. The president, Mrs. T. W. Quayle, read the Scripture lesson and gave an interesting talk upon the eighth psalm. She also read a portion of Matthew 11:28.

Mrs. Brushfield led the devotion at exercises. Mrs. Gallister gave a vocal solo, "Go, Bury Thy Sorrow." Missionary readings were given by Mrs. A. Hogden, formerly of Edmonton, and Mrs. Elliott, "A Cent Apiece." Mrs. Crumb, assisted by her daughter, Miss Mary, served refreshments.

CUPID'S COURT

DUNLOP—HEARN.

Early Monday morning a very quiet wedding took place in St. Matthew's church, Brandon, when Miss Alberta Mary, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hearn, was united in marriage to Mr. H. Dunlop, formerly of Edmonton, now principal of the Consolidated school at Stockton, Man. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. H. Bristol, rector in charge, and Mr. T. M. Teron presided at the organ. Only the immediate relatives were present.

The bride was given away by her father, and was charmingly attired in a Beigian blue taffeta suit, trimmed with white corded silk, the coat opening over a blouse of white embroidered crepe de chine. She wore a large, white hat finished with an ostrich mount. She carried a white prayer book, the gift of her sister, Nursing Sister Martha B. Hearn, C.A.M.C., now on active service in France. Her gift from the bridegroom was a pearl and emerald necklace. Her bouquet was a bridal rose. Mr. and Mrs. Dunlop left on the 8 o'clock train for Winnipeg, en route to Edmonton, where the honeymoon will be spent. They will take up their residence at Stockton the latter part of August.—Winnipeg Free Press.

GERMANS TO SURPRISE WORLD WITH DISARMAMENT SCHEME; REICHSTAG FOR PEACE MOVE

Temps Expose Treachery Of Teutonic Government—Flatters Pan-Germanists But Favors Just The Opposite—Non-German Parties In Austria Accused Of Being In League With Entente.

Paris, July 19.—A dispatch to the Times from Geneva says the German government, according to reliable information, meditates the dramatic proposal to its enemies and to the world of a complete disarmament, except for sufficient forces to maintain compulsory peace by compulsory arbitration.

"The German government," says the Times, "while allowing the solution of the internal crisis to appear as a success for the Pan-Germanists, has in view a manoeuvre of a quite different aspect. The bellicose declarations which resound, and will perhaps continue in Berlin, will be nothing but the prologue designed to represent Germany as invincible. Afterward, perhaps sooner than is expected, will come theatrical initiative in which Germany will show a disposition to disarm."

The Vienna correspondent of the Deutsche Tages Zeitung, according to a Reuter dispatch from Zurich, accuses the non-German parties in Austria of being in alliance with the entente.

"No German can doubt," says the correspondent, "that an alliance or understanding exists between the Austrian Czechs, Poles and other non-Germans, on the one hand, and France, Great Britain and Russia on the other. The recent amnesty declared by the emperor was the first result of this policy of blackmail, and must be considered a victory for the anti-German parties."

The Berlin Tageblatt says the committee of the majority parties in the German reichstag have unanimously decided to move the peace resolution. Previously the committee was divided, two members of the centre and one liberal disagreeing with the majority. The Tageblatt says that in the reichstag 221 deputies will vote for the peace resolution.

well known to the thousands of Empire patrons in Edmonton, and loves her south so well that her interpretation in this film of Lucille Darrell is done with special feeling. As the blackening villain of the story is found Stuart Holmes, the most successful villain of the screen, who has appeared many times before the Empire screen. He is the Leon Muller, who was a founding member of the Empire, and a character of the story, the Rev. Joseph Lorraine, taken by Stephen Gratian. In the part of Samuel Summers is found the talented actor of Shakespearean triumphs, Fuller Melish, who made his first appearance in film existence in "The Fool's Revenge."

Mr. Melish never realized his romantic possibilities until he began to work for the screen, and in his newest picture he is seen with bare shanks and wearing a nightgown for a few feet of film only. The comedy is very strong for Shakespearean repertoire, and "got in" on the centenary celebrations early by appearing in the James H. Hackett production; but he lost no time hastening back to the movies. The picture is a masterpiece of comedy and the regular Pathe Weekly, showing the latest world news in picture form.

CAUGHT BY THE SEMINOLE. The second chapter of the absorbing million-dollar motion picture novel, "Gloria's Romance," is screened today. Billie Burke is more delightful than ever in this installment of the story and the story itself becomes more absorbing as it goes on.

FRIDAY, JULY 20, 1917.

Whatever his crimes, Sir Joseph Flavelle can hardly be supposed to be the only profiteer in Canada. It may even be that he is not the most greedy or successful of the fraternity. Having exposed him to public condemnation, the authorities are bound in fairness—as well as in the public interest—to expose the rest. It is not a "goat" the public want, but the facts.

The question of extending the time for registration having been raised, the point suggests itself whether some means cannot be devised for relieving the householder in the city from the necessity of registering at all. It certainly seems absurd that a person who has resided in the city for years, who perhaps owns property, and who pays electric light and water bills every month and telephone rates every quarter, should be required to journey to a registration booth every summer and record his name, just to prove to the city authorities that he is still in town. Surely the receipts issued by the various departments are good enough evidence of his presence in the city—and, as presence is the only qualification, of his right to have his name put on the voters' list. It is fair enough to require a stranger to register, but the city surely has evidence enough of the physical presence of patrons of these utilities without demanding that they personally appear and prove the fact.

The increasing cost of living has played its part in discouraging enlistment in Canada, and a large part. The allowances made to the dependents of our soldiers were fixed nearly three years ago. They were none too generous when fixed, and had the other disadvantage that part was to be paid—not by the nation in recognition of the nation's debt—but from a fund collected by appeals for voluntary contributions. From the first the Canadian with a family dependent upon him has been confronted with the fact that if he enlisted his family would have to get along on a very moderate allowance, and an allowance partly drawn from what bore many resemblances to a "charity fund." And as time has gone on the increasing cost of living has made it increasingly difficult for the soldier's family to make ends meet with allowances fixed under the less strenuous conditions, while instead of a proposal to increase the allowances to meet the added cost of subsistence the family has occasionally been threatened by a reduction in the amount of the allowance when the voluntary contributions to the Patriotic Fund were not coming in freely. That trend of things has been by no means encouraging to the man who would like to enlist, but who did not enlist because of the position in which his family would be placed. If our Government had undertaken to provide for the soldier's family in accord with the needs of the time, and to do it from the public treasury with no questions asked, there would have been more men in khaki today. The wonder is not that more married men have not enlisted, but that so many men with families have enlisted.

The five million dollars Sir Joseph Flavelle is said to have taken out of the public by profiteering bacon would go a long way toward paying the increased allowances that are due the families of our soldiers to enable them to meet the increased cost of living. And what more appropriate than that money made by boosting the cost of living should be conscripted and spent to relieve the hardship imposed upon them by the boosting process?

The Calgary Herald appeals to Liberal papers to "be generous" in their criticism of the Borden Government. The advice comes from about the most inappropriate quarter possible, and is in itself about as inappropriate as anything that could be suggested from any quarter. The newspapers opposed to the political principles of the Borden Government have treated that Government since the war broke out with a degree of forbearance such as no previous Canadian Government ever received—or was entitled to receive. Full allowance was made for the difficulties incident to the sudden plunge into an unforeseen war, and Sir Robert Borden has found no occasion to complain of the attitude of the Liberal press toward his Government so long as a non-critical attitude was at all compatible with a newspaper's duty to speak for the public interests. Even last fall, when Parliament saved the Government from having to answer for its conduct to the public by an amendment of the constitution and by the suspension of electoral rights, there was little or no complaint from Liberal papers. This, despite the self-evident fact that from the commencement of the war the Government had been manipulating its war policy with a view to accumulating political capital and to preparing for a party success at the polls. The interests of the Liberal party were simply ignored by Liberal papers so long as there was hope or chance that, despite this political manipulation, the war would be prosecuted with a reasonable amount of the energy and capacity that was called for. Only when it became apparent that political advantage was the dominating ambition of the ministers, and that efficient direction of our war effort was hopeless from them, did Liberal papers begin to call public attention to the bungling that has paralyzed patriotic impulse and brought discredit upon the country. And had they done less under those circumstances they would have been traitors to their readers. To demand now that Liberal papers shall "be generous" to the Government at the expense of being disloyal to the public is a demand that has no justification. The Government is fully entitled to credit for all that it has done toward the intelligent and energetic direction of the country's effort to make a worthy and resolute fight for life and liberty. It is equally entitled to be held to the strictest accountability where it has failed to give that direction, and where it has positively discouraged the patriotic spirit of our people. To "be generous" to inefficiency of government at this time is to be treacherous to Canada.

The Decision.
Upton—Where are you and your wife summering this year, seashore or mountains—decided yet?
Underthum—Yes, I decided it this morning. I said we would go to the mountains, so we are going to the seashore.

Whine Not.
"Oh, stop whining. Is whining going to matter?"
"I suppose not."
"Then if not, whine not."

Our Men
They watch o'er us: Upon the waste of waters,
Through sultry nights, through days of blinding heat,
Or where the winds far up in northern quarters
Over the waves weave their gray winding sheet;
They keep their guard as faithful, true and tender
As mother o'er her child.
Watch Thou o'er them, O Father and Defender,
Who watch o'er us.
They fight for us on sea, in trench, o'er mountain,
They struggle on through storm and shot and shell;
O'er sandy desert, past the poisoned fountain,
They still press on against the hosts of hell;
They fight for right, holding their flag the faster,
As fought the saints of old.
Fight Thou for them, our Captain and our Master,
Who fight for us!
They die for us, ah! thought of awful sorrow!
In their fair youth they die, in their full age,
In torment and alone, that our own morrow
May bear no shame or stain upon its pages!
Laying their lives down gladly for some other
Poor friend, perchance unknown.
Receive their souls, their Saviour and their Brother,
Who die for us!
—Chambers' Journal.

Autocracy or Democracy—Which?

Government by and with the consent of the governed is the corner stone of democracy. Government without the consent of the governed is the foundation principle of autocracy. In Canada today, Liberalism, under its trusted leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, stands for the first, and Conservatism, as represented by the Government of Sir Robert Borden, stands for the second. Autocracy would pass a law infringing on the personal liberty of 100,000 of the citizens of Canada by the authority of the self-elected Parliament. Democracy would protect the liberty of the subject until the vote of the people permitted that measure of personal liberty involved in the Military Service Bill to be withdrawn.

Under pretense of war emergency the liberty of the subject is to be arbitrarily taken away—under pretense that Canada is unable, or unwilling, to voluntarily fulfill her war-time obligations. While that may be a fact as to the part of Canada whose 27 votes placed and kept the Borden Government in power, it is a slander upon all the rest of the country. Carroll, of Nova Scotia, lieutenant in the overseas forces and Liberal member of Parliament, asserted in the House of Commons on June 28th, without contradiction, that his province had raised to the full and overflowing every battalion, battery and draft that the Government had authorized to be raised in that province, and he pledged the military spirit of the province to keep up to full strength by voluntary enlistment every Nova Scotia unit at the battle front.

What Nova Scotia has done and will do every other province except Quebec has done and will do. Mr. Carroll believes that Quebec could be depended upon at least to maintain at full strength her forces now at the front by voluntary enlistment.

Such circumstances and conditions cannot be construed to justify the autocracy now in control of Parliament in disregarding the fundamental right of the people under democratic government not to have their guarantees of personal liberty taken from them until their consent has been given.

Purchase of Discharge

The right of a conscript to purchase his discharge under the military service bill was discussed at length in the House of Commons Saturday, July 7th. The bill is an amendment or variation of the Militia Act. Under the Militia Act a soldier can buy his discharge for $50.00 subject to permission. The Prime Minister and the Solicitor General stated that it was not the intention to grant permission to men conscripted under the bill because of war conditions. It was pointed out that on Friday the Minister of Militia had informed the House that since the war began 1,268 men had purchased discharges. The Government declined to define the purchase of discharge in the bill, so that matter will remain as it has been. The man with $50.00 and political pull can get out, while the man who is short the $50.00 or the pull will have to stay in.

With The Humorists

Not to Be Encouraged.
"Why don't you put your husband to work planting a garden?"
"What for?" inquired Mrs. Crosslots.
"All he ever got from his gardening was an appetite."—Washington Star.

Some Job.
She—"What were you doing after the accident?"
He—"Scraping up an acquaintance."—Widow.

Advice.
"It's always safest and best."
"What is?"
"To think that your rival knows a little more than he seems to, and that you know a little less than you think you do."
—Mean.

Hubby's Comment.
"John, that man actually swore at me."
"He did. How brave a man is when he's not married to the woman."
—Otherwise Engaged.

Co-operation.
"The amateur dilettante up our way have formed a club."

LEGAL INQUIRIES

Legal questions will be answered in the columns of The Bulletin, after being submitted to The Bulletin's own legal representatives. Write on one side of the paper only. Be brief. Send stamped envelope for reply.

A lends money to B on a mortgage. B sells the property to C who in turn sells to D, a soldier, now at the front. In order to recover unpaid interest, can A sue B directly or must he proceed by foreclosure.

A can sue B directly. He need not proceed by foreclosure.

Current Comment

No Need of Complaint If—
From Calgary News-Telegram (Cons.)

There would never be any need of compulsory service in Canada if the millions of the profiteers like Flavelle were turned into a fund from which the soldier who does offer his services to his country would receive a decent wage.

Kaiser's Disillusionment.
Talking about prophets, fancy the disillusionment of the Kaiser. He told his troops that they would be back in Berlin victors before the leaves turned in the fall of 1914!

Next Winter.
From the Vegreville Observer.

The hot weather of the Alberta summer does not conduce to thinking of the demands of next winter. But if we don't think now we will surely freeze to death next January.

A Harmonious Country.

From Calgary News-Telegram (Cons.)
On Sunday we have the soldiers of Winnipeg attacking Labor leaders who claim the right of free speech on the Conscription Act, and the next Sunday French-Canadians follow the example and threaten a soldier in Montreal who interrupts one of the French speakers. Thus we have a sort of fifty-fifty split. But what a happy, harmonious country we have here, thanks to the "wisdom" of Sir Robert Borden.

Mr. Oliver's Position.

From the Journal of Commerce.
People who appreciate the National Anthem, and desire to have it honored, will probably be inclined on first thought, as we have said, to disapprove of Mr. Oliver to those who thoughtlessly perhaps, started the Anthem on such an occasion. Mr. Oliver's attitude, a report says, "is that he refuses to sing the National Anthem for what he considers to be political purposes." The easiest way on such an occasion is to rise with others and join in the demonstration. It requires courage in a man to keep his seat at such a time, as a protest against the misuse of the National Anthem. The frequent use of the Anthem in the proceedings of the House—unless it be made a part of the regular opening proceedings, for which something can be said—should not be encouraged. There may be rare occasions when the event of the moment harmonizes with the feelings of a united people, and when, therefore, the singing of the Anthem is in keeping with the sentiments of all the members. The recent visit of Mr. Balfour may be cited as an occasion of this kind. But what excuse can be offered for the use of the National Anthem, or the National flag, for the political purposes of one section of the people? Both the flag and the Anthem are dishonored by such use. The Anthem was designed as an expression by the whole people of their loyalty to the Sovereign. It was never intended to be used to mark the triumph of one party or set of men over another, either in Parliament or in the country. Those who use it in that way do not show proper respect for it. Those who, like Mr. Oliver, have the courage to protest against such a course do more honor to the King than those who make an illegitimate use of his name.

SIR THOMAS RETURNS.

Adventures of Uncle Wiggily

Uncle Wiggily and the Oriole Bird

Copyright, 1917, by McClure News-paper Syndicate.

High up on the drooping branch of the elm tree swung the nest of the oriole bird. The nest was like some of the fancy bags the ladies carry in which to hold little looking glasses so they can flash them in the sun and make their eyes brighter.

The mother and father oriole birds sat in the nest near the hanging nest and sang songs to one another. Soon the little birds would be able to fly out from the nest, which was just like a lady's bag, except that it had four strings instead of two to tie to fasten it to the branch of the elm tree. The nest was deep and lined with soft grass, so that it would almost hold water.

Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit gentleman, was hopping along on his red, white and blue striped barber pole rheumatism crutch beneath the nest, and, looking up, he asked the oriole birds:

"May I have the pleasure of doing you a favor this morning? I am going to the store for Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy to get her some sugar to bake a cake and if there is anything tell me."

"Thank you, I think we have everything we want," said the mother oriole bird. "My little ones will leave the nest today to hunt bugs and worms for themselves. I will not have to search over the farms and gardens for them. So we need nothing."

"All right," said Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped along by himself, wishing he might do a favor for his bowler-stubby and he did a little later. He saw a ladybug, walking along a fence rail, trying to carry a crumb of bread, and it was too large for her, being almost the size of herself.

"Let me carry that loaf for you," said the bunny, and he took it. For, though to us it was only the size of a crumb, it was very large to the ladybug.

"Thank you, I wish you good luck," said the ladybug when the bunny rabbit gentleman had taken the crumb-loaf to her front door.

"Well, I may need your good-luck wish, so I thank you," spoke the bunny with a low and polite bow of his tail silk hat. Then he hopped on to get the sugar.

The monkey doodle who kept the store put the sweet sugar in a paper bag for Uncle Wiggily, and the rabbit gentleman was going carefully along on his way to his bowler-stubby bungalow, wondering what sort of a cake Nurse Jane was going to bake, when, all of a sudden, the bunny heard from behind him a rattle and whizz of wheels, and a voice called:

"Look out Uncle Wiggily!"

But then it was too late to look out, or look in, either. "Slap! Bang!" right into the bunny gentleman ran Sammie Little, the boy who was riding down the street on his roller skate sidewalk coaster wagon.

"Oh, dear!" cried Sammie, and well might he say that. For he had upset Uncle Wiggily, and the old rabbit gentleman, tossing his tail silk hat one way and the bag of sugar the other, and the bag burst and the sugar spilled out all over the sidewalk.

"Oh, my!" cried Uncle Wiggily, his pink nose twinkling so fast that it looked like an electric sign in front of a barber shop. "Oh, my! What will Nurse Jane say?"

"We won't have to tell her if we can scoop up the sugar again, Uncle Wiggily," said Sammie, getting off the sidewalk scooter and beginning to brush up the sweet, white grains of sugar. "Maybe we can save most of it and you can buy a little more and Nurse Jane won't know a thing about it."

"But what are we going to put the sugar in?" asked the bunny rabbit gentleman. "The paper bag is burst."

"We can put some in your tail silk hat and some in my pockets," spoke Sammie.

So the rabbit boy began to help Uncle Wiggily brush up and pick up the sugar. They put some in the tail silk hat. But, alas! It all ran out again, for there were holes in Uncle Wiggily's hat to give air to his whiskers, and from these holes the sugar poured.

"Never mind! My pockets will hold the sugar," said Sammie. But alas! As day they would not, for they, too, like the pockets of most boys, had holes in them.

"Oh, what shall we do? What can we put the spilled sugar in?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "I guess I'll have to go back to the store for another bag."

"Oh, no, you won't have to do that," said a soft voice in the air over his head, and there fluttered the oriole bird. "I'll let you take my old, hanging nest, that my family no longer needs, for a sugar bag," said the oriole.

"And what is more, we birds, with our bills just made for picking up crumbs, will help pick up the grains of sugar."

So the mother and father oriole birds and the little oriole birds, and even the lady bug picked up Uncle

Wiggily's spilled sugar, putting it in the hanging bag nest, which the oriole bird brought down out of the tree for Uncle Wiggily. The nest held the sugar, not letting a grain spill, and, when Uncle Wiggily brought it to Nurse Jane, she said:

"What funny sugar bags they are using at the store now."

But Uncle Wiggily twinkled his nose and gave a word. So everything came out all right, you see, and, if the lawn mower doesn't cut the tops off the milk bottles so the rain snows in them, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the snipe.

The Daily Log Book

Many of the boys and girls of the Aladdin Club are very busy during the holiday period and are helping their parents and other relatives in many ways. They are doing all kinds of work, and while they have some time for play they are also busy in the house and around the farm.

Willie Dallaire, of Lamadeleine, writes that he is milking five cows every day and he has raised ten chickens. He is fifteen years of age and would like some of the members to write him.

Yvonne Nadeau, of Val Soucy, asks to have some money sent him. He, too, is busy and milks three cows in the morning and two in the evening.

Alce Berg, of Kingman, Alta., writing an interesting letter, says that while spending her holidays with her grandmother she has helped her by washing the dishes and doing other work around the house.

Many others are also working for their parents, and while they may have some good times they have also a good deal of hard work.

Letters to Uncle Tom

Takes Music Lessons.

Dear Uncle Tom: I am taking music lessons now. I am in grade four and am going to have our examinations pretty soon. We will not have any holidays in July, because we had all January. We had no school in the afternoon on the last Friday in June. We had recitations, song, stories, and dialogues. I would like to see my letter in print. I did not see the other one in print.

Ethel Nordstrom.

Martins P.O., July 3.

Would Like Words of Song.

Dear Uncle Tom—I must apologize for not having written before, but I have been busy with the examinations and school work. I wish to thank you for the badge which I received safely. I have a request to make. Will some kind member send me the words of the poem "Mary, call the cattle home, across the sands of Deceit," which I have read in the columns of the Club for the benefit of other members? I think that if such things are sent, they will be more interesting. Thanking you, I remain,

AN EDMONTON MEMBER.

11707 82nd St., Edmonton.

Sold Out for $10.

Dear Uncle Tom—This is my first letter to you. I have been so busy that I did not write to you until I had the twelve boys and girls to sign the paper which was very hard work as almost everyone takes the Bulletin.

We have a little calf, we call it Virginia, and an older one, we call Jack. My sister and I claim them. My sister and I have just been out playing catch.

Greencourt, July 3.

Uncle Wiggily's Adventure.

Dear Uncle Tom—I thought I would write and tell you that you forgot to send me my badge. I have been reading the adventures of Uncle Wiggily and I am real nice. He sure has had some adventures especially when they came in contact with the elephant. I guess you thought he was going to be eaten up that time all right. Well, I guess I will close for this time.

ADA MAY MOYER.

Fort Saskatchewan, July 3.

Tells About Pets.

Dear Uncle Tom—How are you getting along? I was awfully glad to see my letter in print and hope to see this one in print too. Well, I guess I will tell you about my pets. I have a cow, four hens, ten little chickens and two ducks, and I have some pigeons. I would be much obliged if some one would send me the words of the old war song, "Break the News to Mother," and I will send some song in return. I like to read the adventures of Uncle Wiggily and I must close as I have to help my papa with the plowing.

WM. T. TURNBULL.

Kinsella, July 7.

First Letter to Club.

Dear Uncle Tom—This is my first letter to your happy club, and I have been wanting to join for a long time. I hope I will get my badge and I wish to see my letter in print.

Castor, July 5.

Holidays Here at Last.

Dear Uncle Tom—The holidays are here at last. We were late in getting our vacation this year because we had two weeks' holiday last year. I went for a long horse back ride this morning. It was very hot, but I enjoyed myself fine. Our garden is growing fine. I have a garden of my own. I have potatoes, beans, peas, beets, onions, carrots, turnips, and celery. My potatoes and peas are in bloom and everything else is coming on fine. My brother has a flower garden and some of his flowers are in bloom too. I was in bathing the other day and I had some water wings on. It is easy to swim with them on.

Onaway, July 17.

Going to Aid Red Cross.

Dear Uncle Tom—I go to school every day. Our school will be out on the 27th day of July. We are going to have a concert and basket social. We will send the money to the Red Cross. Alice Victor asks for the words of "Just before the Battle, the day that the world was ending."

Well, I will close for this time.

P.S.—Will somebody please send the words of "Where the River Shannon Flows?"

July 20.

The song "Just before the Battle, the day that the world was ending," was published a day or two ago, Arthur. Thanks for sending it.

UNCLE TOM.

OVERCROWDED CARS NOT A "NUISANCE"

Privy Council Decides in Favor of the Toronto Street Railway

Toronto, July 19.—A cable to Hon. J. B. Lucas, an acting member of the Privy Council, has decided that the overcrowding of street cars is not a criminal offense or a public nuisance. According to some of the members of the Privy Council, the overcrowding of cars was not only a public nuisance but a menace to public health. It was in 1911 that Mr. Justice Riddell found against the company and after much delay the case was taken about a year ago to the court of appeal, which upheld the judgment given at the trial. The Toronto Railway Company then took the case to the Privy Council.

Little Stories of Big Men

Slaughtering the Cows.

The deepest insight into the real food situation in Germany is offered by travellers who have been in Germany within the last four months. According to some of them who recently arrived at "some port in America," the Germans are slaughtering their cows and the children are the only ones who are allowed milk in that country. It takes something for a German to kill his cow. He will slaughter almost every other animal before he does that. That only a piece of cheese or a slice of butter is the German who owns a cow has to do with the patient animal just what he is told and when the word goes forth for the cow to be killed, he is very busy and does a little weeping. The fat, of course, is delivered to the government. And now the bread ration has been reduced so that only a piece the size of a large cracker is allowed to be consumed by each adult per day. Oil has become almost unknown and the only thing which is plentiful is coal. But you can't eat that—unless of course, you have a stomach like an ostrich. How long will the German people keep it up?

Little Stories of Big Men

Dr. Talcott Williams.

Teaching the young is so new to report is the particular mission in life of Dr. Talcott Williams, dean of the Columbia School of Journalism, founded by the late Joseph Pulitzer, owner of the New York World. Some men are born with a "nose for news," but none ever have a "nose for news" as Dr. Williams has. When Dr. Williams was born in Abell, Turkey, on July 20, 1849, just sixty-eight years ago today, his parents never dreamed that some day the son of their old maid would be the thoughts and opinions of those who would thoughts and opinions of the great American public. Dr. Williams' father was a military officer and that accounts for his being born in Turkey. Dr. Williams has been engaged in newspaper work for forty years. He began his career with the New York World in 1873. After four years of general training with that paper he became Washington correspondent for the New York Sun and the San Francisco Chronicle. In 1879 he became an editorial writer on the Springfield Republican, coming from there in 1881 to the Philadelphia Press, where he was assistant editor until his appointment in 1912 as director of the Pulitzer School of Journalism. He has always taken an active interest in educational movements, particularly in the cause of Southern education. He is a trustee of Amherst College, from which he graduated in 1873, and holds membership in many scholarly associations.

William Ziegler, the Boy Millionaire.

There are few of us in this world who have never wished that they had a rich uncle. Rich uncles are mighty handy things to have, or rather, have had, especially if they have left their inheritance to you. To my beloved nephew Bill I bequeath, etc. But most of these uncles don't die. It happens once in a while, however, and it happened very prominently in the case of William Ziegler, the "thirty-million dollar boy." Not alone did his uncle leave him this vast sum but adopted him first to make sure he'd get it. How is that for dreams coming true? To see and know Mr. Ziegler would never know that he had such a pocket full of money. He is quiet and unassuming, and, in fact, you never hear of him unless the papers happen to mention that he is helping another struggling artist to win success. Mr. Ziegler is fond of music and devotes much of his time to it. "To-day" he has a quiet country place surrounded by friends celebrating his twenty-sixth birthday. Mr. Ziegler is the son of G. W. Brandt of Davenport, Ia., who was a half brother of the late William Ziegler. When the boy was five years old, a serious minded child and in ill health, the "baking powder king" adopted him. Under good care the boy grew into a sturdy youth and at one time intended to go to the Arctic regions with an expedition his foster father was financing. But fate intervened and his attention was attracted to music, especially to music. In 1911 he had the extreme gratification of seeing one of his own musical comedies produced. When the play succeeded, the fortune was held in trust for him until he was twenty-one. In 1913 Mr. Ziegler married Gladys Virginia Watson of New York. He is an enthusiastic yachtsman—but what's the use of going on. Anybody can be enthusiastic with $30,000,000.

SEVERE STORM REPORTED FROM ATHABASCA

Rain Fell in Torrents, Bringing Joy to the Farmers of the District

The storm which passed to the north of the city on Wednesday night struck Athabasca in its full fury about ten o'clock and continued until well after one. There was a downpour of rain, accompanied by a heavy wind and a thunder storm. The rain was greatly appreciated by the farmers of the district. No damage from the lightning has occurred so far as is known.

Telegraphic advices from the West-coast district, on the Dunvegan railway, report a heavy hailstorm at that point. Twenty-seven windows were broken by the hail in the hotel and twenty in the station.
